A Note from the Entertainment Director

The Renaissance era is that period in time when man saw a rebirth - a strengthening and broadening - of the arts. Actors, clowns, singers, mimes, dancers, and musicians traveled together from one receptive audience to another, sharpening their skills.

In this modern day of television, film, and professional stage entertainment, it is often difficult for young performers to find the space and audience that their growing talents require. This is one of the reasons that King Richard's Faire affords such a rare opportunity. Here the performers interact with one another, getting valuable direction and feedback from other performers as well as from the very responsive audience. In this setting performers are able to, indeed, they are encouraged to, work and re-work and experiment with their imagination in order to reach the limits of their talent. Please join us for this exciting and rewarding new Renaissance.

—John Mills

The Forever Pass

The "FOREVER PASS", which allows the bearer unlimited admission to this year's Faire, is available at the boxoffice for just $7.00.

A Note from the Producers

King Richard and his loyal subjects welcome you to our new permanent village. Some basic construction has been started this year and will continue for the next several years—our plans include a new lake, extensive landscaping and many new shops. Please respect our neighbors' fields and property.

The King will keep you updated with our quarterly newsletter. Sign the guest register near the entrance and you will be placed on our mailing list.

The Greathall Year-round Catering

Let it be known throughout the kingdom that King Richard's Great Hall, the hall that serves the massive feasts, now caters private parties on a year-round basis. Why not enjoy the food and drink of the 15th century and be entertained by a band of King Richard's favorite performers?

The Great Hall offers much more than just gourmet Renaissance food and drink. To compliment such gastronomy, the Great Hall also provides tables, chairs, linens, banners, and various medieval decorations. The meal may be served on either pewter alloy or paper dishes, depending on individual preference. The Great Hall also will provide servers in costume and entertainment by the King's favorite performers, also in costume.

For more information, please call Rob Rogers or the Mistress of the Feasts (Jan McGlone) at Greathall of Illinois, Ltd., (312) 689-2800.
